Chief Executive Presents His Policy in Regard to Legislation

Columbus, April 24.—Four more bills sent by the Legislature and disapproved by Governor Donahey, bring the total of vetoes to date to 54.

The latest measures to feel the veto are the Tallentire bill, attempting to transfer from the Superior Court of Cincinnati to the Common Pleas Court of Hamilton County, power to appoint trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad; the Jenkins bill, which would have prevented anyone but American citizens from obtaining coutracts for highway or public works construction; the Gifford bill, authorising county commissioners to construct sidewalks in territory adjacent to cities, and the Lipp bill, amending the law relating the the release of persus frem hosptals for the insane by habeas corpus proceedings.

"If a cocpany with a Canadian direc tor is low bidder on a contract, why should it not have the contract?" asked the governor in vetoing the Jenkins bill. Donahey declared that the bill was carrying efforts at exclusion too far.

"In the broadest implication the bill smacks of narrow isolation which happily for America and the world is soon to be discarded as a national policy, as we move toward the light

The French ironmasters, who have suffered grave losses through lack of fuel to feed their furnaces, and have thus been forced to close down their operations largely, are leaders in the move to compel a change of policy in the French government. Added to this pressure, it is understood that General Degoutte, commander-inchief in the Ruhr, has made a special request for an early adjustment, as he is afraid that the young troops now forming the bulk of his forces, will get out of control. In order to avoid clashes the French military authorities have to enforce the strictest discipline. This has resulted in making the troops very restive.

If nothing is achieved, the status quo will be maintained. If an agreement is reached the two governments can then go forward to a final disposition of the con-

Replies to Opposition In Vigorous Speech In New York

WILL NOT GIVE UP Denies That Country is Headed Into League of Nations as Charged

New York, April 24.-President Harding threw down the gauntlet to day on his world court proposal.

In a vigorous speech, which const his administration is "flirting" with the League of Nations, and challeng ed his party to carry America into the court or admit that Republican plat form pledges for the last twenty year are merely broken promises. The President served notice that ha has no intention of abandoning th court because of the opposition to within his party. On the contrary, h extolled the merits of the tribunal a containing the highest hopes for pe manent world peace and announce his intention of going through with -even at the cost of Republican ha

At the same time, the President d lared with unusual emphasis that the United States is not now and will never be headed into the League of Nations as long as he is at the help of government. Won't Enter By Back Door "This administration." asserted M Harding, "does not propose to ente now, by the side door, the back doo or the cellar door. I have no unseem comment to offer on the League. Is mere power to it. But it is not for us The Senate has so declared, the excutives has so declared, the people have so declared. Nothing could be made decisively stamped with final To make his opposition to America entrance into the League itself even more emphatic, Mr. Harding asserted that even if the Senate experienced a change of heart and tried to put America into the League, he, as chief executive, would not allow it. The President's acceptance on the court issue of the challenge of the Republican irreconcilables was bold and definite. He frankly recognized the bolt ing element of his party and he was equally frank in asserting that if this was to be the break, then let it come. The question of American adherence to the world court, Mr. Harding said, is one that transcends party lines. He reminded his audience of publishers at the outset that the Republican platforms for twenty years have pledged the party to the world court ideal,

Then he said: Not Paramount Question "I would not have it thought that I nold this question paramount to all others confronting our government. I do not hold it a menac to the unity of any political party. It is not to be classed as a party question but if any party, repeatedly advocating a world court, is to be rended by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new appraisal of its assets.

The President blamed "excessive foes" of the League and "excessive friends of the League" for much of the turmoil and stress which has sprung up around the court proposal "muddying the political waters," he called it.

"Perhaps," he said, "the court is not all that some advocates of the court plan would have it, but it is in a large measure the fulfillment of an aspiration we have long boasted.

"Excessive friends of the league have beclouded the situation by their unwarranted assumption that it is a move toward league membership. Let them disabuse their minds, because there is no such thought among us.

"And the situation is likewise beclouded by those who shudder excessively when the league is mentioned, who assume entanglement is unavoidknow of no word fitting to apply." Recognizes "Bugbear" The President recgnized one political "bugbear' in his proposal, the six votes to one which the British government will have in election of court justices. He recalled that as a senator in the League of Nation's fight, he had voted against this disparity. Then he said: "But in an appraisal now I do not hesitate to say that if other great powers can accept without fear the voting strength of the Fritish dominions when they are without ties of race to minimize international rivalries and suspicions, we ought in view of the natural ties of English speaking kinship, feel ourselves free from said. "It is in harmony with platform pledges, candidatorial promises, and l believe, with American aspirations." Nearly all of the President's address, delivered to newspaper publishers attending the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, dealt with the international court issue. Near the close however, Mr. Harding briefly discussed domestic matters.

Reaffirms Position He reaffirmed his position in favor of a powerful American merchant marine, and asserted, "if we cannot sell (our ships) we will operate, and operate aggressively." It would be a 'small administration," he said, that would allow itself in a fit of pique to sacrifice the government's great shipping interests merely because the Senate would not approve its pro-

The President also paid his respects to the decadence of the American political system which he attributed as due in small measure to the growth of the primary system. "We have gotten away from the representative system," he said.

QUICK RELIEF FROM

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"— bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

ISS GLORIA CATY, Well Known Philadelphia Woman Who Has Recently Recovered From Severe Stomach Trouble by Taking Dr. Thach-er's Liver and Blood Syrup.

The many friends and patrons of Miss Gloria Caty, of 1808 South 23rd street Philadelphia, who for several years has been employed at the Sutherland Beauty Parlors, will be glad to know she has fully recovered her health and is back again at her old post after an absence of several' weeks due to illness. Miss Caty pays a high tribute to Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup for restoring her health and says.

"My stomach was in such miserable condition that I could hardly eat a thing that it didn't nearly tear me all to pieces. My health was simply wretched. I had to force down what little I did eat and I was hardly ever free from those dull, heavy headaches. I would often have dizzy spells, too. and my skin had an unhealthy color and broke out with disgusting eruptions. My nerves were all on edge, sleep was a stranger to me and I just had to give up my work and stay at home for treatment.

'Several of my friends told me to take Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. I did so, taking five bottles in all, and now I am over all my toubles, thank goodness and feel just like a brand new person."

WORLD COURT HELD ABOVE PARTY ISSUE.

At the meeting of the National Civic Federation at New York City last week, James Brown Scott, President of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, made an address on the Permanent International Court, said to be the "clearest, most convincing and most authoritative statement of the court and its background yet appearing in this country."

Dr. Scott dwelt exhaustively on the history of international arbitration, especially from the standpoint of its indebtedness to American precedents from the first arbitral decision in 1798, between America and England, to the present time, and said that throughout this long history "every single arbitration award had by one nation of another nation has been complied with." He declared that the whole groundwork of the idea was essentially American, its most vital protections for small states having been taken from American constitutional procedure from the example of the just protection accorded to weaker states in the first American union by the stronger states.

In closing, Dr. Scott made a stirring plea for full admission into the court as it now stands. "It would be a pity," he said, ,'if some plan is not devised by which the United States can properly take part in this Permanent Court of International Justice, for which the Government and people of the United States are responsible. The court is an American deal. Judicial settlement is an American shibboleth. The experience of the Supreme Court has shown the ideal to be practicable.

Oscar Straus, former American representative on the International Court of Arbitratioin at The Hague, said that it was a "crime" that the question of the International Court should have been injected into party politics. "It is not a party question," he said, "but it rises into the higher realm of the welfare of this country and the welfare of the people of the world."

THE PRICE OF "PERSONAL LIBERTY."

In confinement for a term of not less than six years, in a Pennsylvania penitentiary, a Philadelphia man of good family and high business standing is today reflecting upon what has come to him from using what some people regard as the inalienable right and personal liberty to get drunk. Having found a way to violate the prohibition law of the land, he did it so effectively that on his way home in an automobile he killed three people, and is now under sentence of murder in the second degree. The judge, in sentencing him, said truly. "The very worst punishment this man can suffer is the constant thought he has snuffed out three lives."

In Pittsfield, Massachusetts, a man whose friends said that he had "three or four drinks of moonshine" is in jail, charged with second degree murder, two persons having paid with their lives orchestra. Admission and lunch will the penalty of his offense.

We have no desire to enlarge upon the pathetic phases of these cases. The simple fact that five people in all were killed, one little child being bereft of a parent, as a result of the criminal traffic in liquor, now prohibited by the law, tells the story sufficiently without any elaboration of its details. With these facts fresh in consciousness, it seems incredible that there should be found in the Nation, as there are, men and women of good repute and of high social standing, willing to defend alike the men who drank the liquor which made them murderers and the men who sold it, on the ground that both were exercising an inalienable right and liberty.

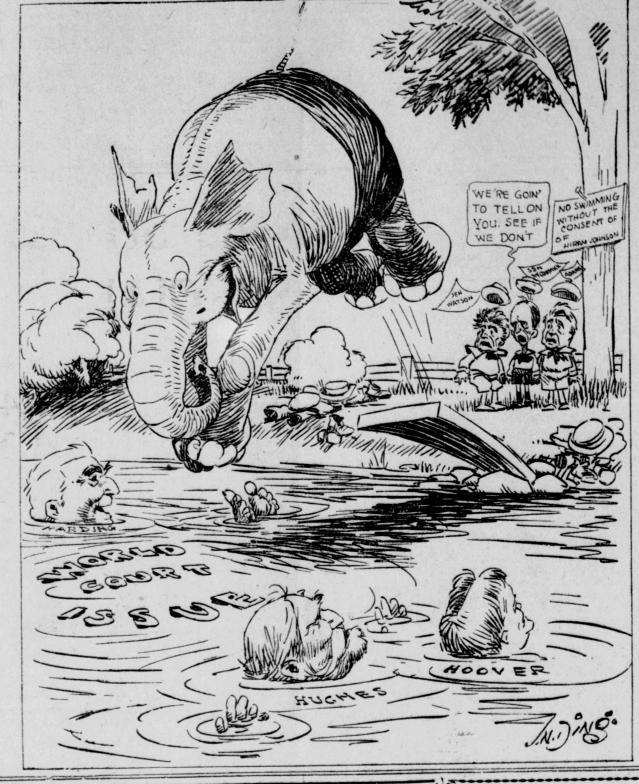

THAT ALLEGED "LABOR SHORTAGE."

Because the United States Steel Corporation finds difficulty in securing a sufficient supply of labor to maintain its operations, Judge Gary has made an appeal for the cancellation of the present restrictions upon immigration until the need for labor shall be met. The suggestion has resulted in bringing out some interest- much improved. ing assertions and arguments from people who are determined to maintain the standard of American citizenship by restricting Take Laxative BROMO QUININE The Buckeye State Building & rigidly the importation of undesirable foreigners. Some of these suggestions will undoubtedly arouse heated controversy, notably the one made by the secretary of Howard University to the effect that there are 8,000,000 Negroes in the south who are available to supply any lack of labor in the steel company's mills or any other large organized industries in the north now confronted by a labor shortage. The superintendent of this institution for the education of colored people says, very truly:

They are tied to a one-crop system and oppressed by economic conditions that hinder and prevent their fullest development and the enjoyment of the fullest American citizenship. They possess strong bodies and have a real patriotic attachment to American institutions. It seems unnecessary to look to foreign shores to supply any labor shortage that may exist in American industries when there is such a large and sympathetic group within reach.

The situation which Judge Gary has set forth, and the proposition he makes for its correction, may well engage the earnest and thoughtful attention of all who are interested in maintaining the standard of American citizenship. It is a debatable question. Perhaps the head of the American steel industry may be right. No one ever questions his sincere desire to serve at once the interests of his organization, and to hold his admitted standing as a patriotic American. But it would seem that the evidence was largely against him in this instance.

Columbus, O., April 24 .- Governor Donahey today vetoed the McDonald reappraisement bill, which would have created a county board of assessors composed of the county auditor, prosecuting attorney and the president of the board of county commissioners, and which required a general reappraisement of all real estate in the state in 1924 and every eight years thereafter. The governor to date has vetoed 55 bills. Governor Donahey. compared the McDonald bill to the Albaugh tax measure, which he recently vetoed, because he said the bill divested the county auditor of the assessing power, and divided this authority bef tween the prosecutor and the the president of the board of county commissioners.

EAST END NEWS

At a conference of St. John's A. M E. Church Monday night, W. S. Rogers offered the following resolution which was seconded by A. C. Scurry and unanimously adopted by the congregation: "Be it resolved by St. John's A. M. E. Church, in church conference assem_ bled, that we propose to the First A. M. E. "Be it further resolved, that should our proposition find a corresponding feeling in a majority of the members of said First A. M. S. Church, that said two congregations meet here as one body on the 7th day of May, 1923, to hear an address on 'the effectiveness and advantages of church unity' by our beloved bishop, Rt. Rev. Joshua

H. Jones, D. D. "Be it further resolved, that following said joint meeting, that after regular notice therefore said St. John's A. M. E. Church reassemble and appoint a committee of seven to meet with a like committee from First A. M. E. Church and thereby form a commission to work out the whole proposition under authority from said churches.

"Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution together with the report of our action thereon, be sent the bishop, and the pastor of the First A. M. E. Church at once."

This action has been contemplated for several months by the general public, who observed the change in sentiment among the memoers of the two congregations, many of whom have realized the futility of main. taining two churches.

Bitter animosities which were engendered in the fight over site when old St. John's Church was rebuilt about eight or nine years ago and a portion of its membership withdrew and established the First A. M. E. Church, have been obliterated under sober meditation, social contact, and by Christian consideration.

The congregation of these two churches are made up in a large measure of families who settled here before and shortly after the Civil War their unfortunate separation caused for a time much family and social unpleasantness which it seems certain will soon be healed in a reuniting of this old congregation. The meeting Monday night was presided over by Rev. Charles H. Young, pastor, and Mr. H. P. Howard was secretary. The First A. M. E. Church congregation will meet Wednesday night to consider the proposal set forth in the Ohio Governor Disapproves Other Measures it is Announced.

GIVES HIS REASONS Chief Executive Presents His Policy in Regard to Legislation

Columbus, April 24.—Four more bills sent by the Legislature and disapproved by Governor Donahev, bring the total of vetoes to date to 54.

The latest measures to feel the veto are the Tallentire bill, attempting to transfer from the Superior Court of Cincinnati to the Common Pleas Court of Hamilton County, power to appoint trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad; the Jenkins bill, which would have prevented anyone but American citizens from obtaining coutracts for highway or public works construction; the Gifford bill, authori: ing county commissioners to construct sidewalks in territory adjacent to cities, and the Lipp bill, amending the law relating the the release of persus frem hosptals for the insane by habeas corpus proceedings.

"If a cocpany with a Canadian direc tor is low bidder on a contract, why should it not have the contract?" asked the governor in vetoing the Jenkins bill. Donahey declared that the bill was carrying efforts at exclusion too far.

"In the broadest implication the bill smacks of narrow isolation which happily for America and the world is soon to be discarded as a national policy, as we move toward the light of a new day," the governor said.

In vetoing the Lipp bill, the governor said it deviated from a policy of many years standing, whereby fees of alienists are fixed in connection with committment of persons to institutions for the insane. This bill would permit alienists to be paid a higher fee the governor pointed out, and in a habeas corpus proceding his fee of $50 wud be paid by the county if the patient were discharged but if found insane, the patient would be required to pay the fee. If such a fee is paid at all, it should be paid regardless of the result of the case, the governor said.

Courts of Common Pleas and Appeals Decide Against Bank

Columbus., O., April 24.-The State Supreme Court today decided to hear the case, on appeal of Francis Monozewski, who, on November 28. 1919, deposited $827.65 in the Klonowski Savings bank, Cleveland, for the purchase of 42,000 marks to be remitted to a Warsaw, Poland bank. By January, 1921, 42,000 marks were worth only $130, but Monozeewski claims that he did not have even a bank book to show for that amount in the Warsaw bank.

He took his case to the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, which allowed him the original $827.65 with interest. The bank appealed the case to the supreme Court after the Appellate Court upheld the decision of the Common Pleas.

The French ironmasters, who have suffered grave losses through lack of fuel to feed their furnaces, and have thus been forced to close down their operations largely, are leaders in the move to compel a change of policy in the French government. Added to this pressure, it is understood that General Degoutte, commander-inchief in the Ruhr, has made a special request for an early adjustment, as he is afraid that the young troops now forming the bulk of his forces, will get out of control. In order to avoid clashes the French military authorities have to enforce the strictest discipline. This has resulted in making the troops very restive.

Re-establishment of Friendly Relationship Is Expected

Washington, April 24.-Charles Beecher Warren, former ambassa. dor to Japan, and John Barton Payne, former secretary of the Interior have been selected by President Harding to represent the United States in the negotiations at Mexico City looking to the recognition of the Obregon government, it was announced at the State Department today.

Washington, April 24.-Secretary Hughes announced that, in order to hasten the reaching of an understanding with Mexico, two American commissioners will meet with two Mexican commissioners at Mexico City in the very near future.

These commissioners will canvass every angle of the situation thorough- State Department Gets ly and report back to their respective governments.

WARD-PETERS CASE This announcement is regarded in official circles as by far the longest step toward the re-establishment of friendly diplomatic relations between Safety Act Under Which Mexico and the United States that has been taken during the Harding now under arrest in Honduras, awaitadministration.

The text of the Hughes announce- ing to an official report to the State won a sweeping victory today in the derstanding between the governments probe which it is making into the of the United States and Mexico, two Ward-Peters murder mystery, under American commissioners and two a decision of Supreme Court Justice Mexican commissioners will be appointed to meet for the purpose or that Attorney General Sherman could thorities. The names of the commissioners will be announced later.'

An official interpretation of the announcement, obtained from the state department shortly after it was given out, follows: "This is merely an attempt of a friendly sort to see whether a practical basis can be found for the resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico. If nothing is achieved, the status quo will be maintained. If an agreement is reached the two governments can then go forward to a final disposition of the controversy."

This is taken to indicate that Secretary Hughes sees in the Mexican proposals delivered to President Harding on April 10 evidence that the Obregon government has made sufficient progress in meeting the views of the state department as to the safeguarding of American property rights in Mexico to warrant the two governments in appointing representatives to meet at the conference table in an effort to arrive at a final solution of the problem.

Failure of the United States to recognize the Obregon government of Mexico is criticised in a statement issued by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. In its dealing with Mexico, the statement asserts, the state department has insisted that American citizens be given extra privileges denied even to Mexican citizens, "which is against the American spirit of justice and fair

WORLD COURT HELD ABOVE PARTY ISSUE.

At the meeting of the National Civic Federation at New York City last week, James Brown Scott, President of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, made an address on the Permanent International Court, said to be the "clearest, most convincing and most authoritative statement of the court and its background yet appearing in this country."

Dr. Scott dwelt exhaustively on the history of international arbitration, especially from the standpoint of its indebtedness to American precedents from the first arbitral decision in 1798, between America and England, to the present time, and said that throughout this long history "every single arbitration award had by one nation of another nation has been complied with." He declared that the whole groundwork of the idea was essentially American, its most vital protections for small states having been taken from American constitutional procedure from the example of the just protection accorded to weaker states in the first American union by the stronger states.

In closing, Dr. Scott made a stirring plea for full admission into the court as it now stands. "It would be a pity," he said, ,'if some plan is not devised by which the United States can properly take part in this Permanent Court of International Justice, for which the Government and people of the United States are responsible. The court is an American deal. Judicial settlement is an American shibboleth. The experience of the Supreme Court has shown the ideal to be practicable.

Oscar Straus, former American representative on the International Court of Arbitratioin at The Hague, said that it was a "crime" that the question of the International Court should have been injected into party politics. "It is not a party question," he said, "but it rises into the higher realm of the welfare of this country and the welfare of the people of the world."

THE PRICE OF "PERSONAL LIBERTY."

In confinement for a term of not less than six years, in a Pennsylvania penitentiary, a Philadelphia man of good family and high business standing is today reflecting upon what has come to him from using what some people regard as the inalienable right and personal liberty to get drunk. Having found a way to violate the prohibition law of the land, he did it so effectively that on his way home in an automobile he killed three people, and is now under sentence of murder in the second degree. The judge, in sentencing him, said truly. "The very worst punishment this man can suffer is the constant thought he has snuffed out three lives."

In Pittsfield, Massachusetts, a man whose friends said that ing at Fairfield Hall, Friday evenhe had "three or four drinks of moonshine" is in jail, charged with second degree murder, two persons having paid with their lives orchestra. Admission and lunch will the penalty of his offense.

We have no desire to enlarge upon the pathetic phases of these cases. The simple fact that five people in all were killed, one little child being bereft of a parent, as a result of the criminal traffic in liquor, now prohibited by the law, tells the story sufficiently without any elaboration of its details. With these facts fresh in consciousness, it seems incredible that there should be found in the Nation, as there are, men and women of good repute and of high social standing, willing to defend alike the men who drank the liquor which made them murderers and the men who sold it, on the ground that both were exercising an inalienable right and liberty.

THAT ALLEGED "LABOR SHORTAGE."

Because the United States Steel Corporation finds difficulty in securing a sufficient supply of labor to maintain its operations, Judge Gary has made an appeal for the cancellation of the present restrictions upon immigration until the need for labor shall be met. The suggestion has resulted in bringing out some interest- much improved. ing assertions and arguments from people who are determined to maintain the standard of American citizenship by restricting Take Laxative BROMO QUININE The Buckeye State Building & rigidly the importation of undesirable foreigners. Some of these suggestions will undoubtedly arouse heated controversy, notably the one made by the secretary of Howard University to the effect that there are 8,000,000 Negroes in the south who are available to supply any lack of labor in the steel company's milis or any other large organized industries in the north now confronted by a labor shortage. The superintendent of this institution for the education of colored people says, very truly:

They are tied to a one-crop system and oppressed by economic conditions that hinder and prevent their fullest development and the enjoyment of the fullest American citizenship. They possess strong bodies and have a real patriotic attachment to American institutions. It seems unnecessary to look to foreign shores to supply any labor shortage that may exist in American industries when there is such a large and sympathetic group within reach.

The situation which Judge Gary has set forth, and the proposition he makes for its correction, may well engage the earnest and thoughtful attention of all who are interested in maintaining the standard of American citizenship. It is a debatable question. Perhaps the head of the American steel industry may be right. No one ever questions his sincere desire to serve at once the interests of his organization, and to hold his admitted standing as a patriotic American. But it would seem that the evidence was largely against him in this instance.
